HOOVER WOULD SPEED BUILDING TO OFFSET LULL IN SOUND TRADE

Leaders in Agriculture, Labor and Industry Asked to Confer.

PRESIDENT DECIDES TO TAKE COMMAND

Lessened Activity Came as Money Poured Into Stock Market.

"SANITY" MOVEMENT STARTED ON TARIFF

Bloc May Seek Retention of Fordney-McCumber Industrial Rates.

By CARLISLE BARBERON.

President Hoover yesterday assumed the role of commander in chief of the Nation's business for the purpose of leading it out of the hole in which stock market crashes placed it. He announced that he is calling for next week a conference of representatives of industry, labor and agriculture with a view to stimulating building and construction that have lagged as the country poured its money into the security markets.

These representatives will meet with the Secretaries of the Treasury, Agriculture, Commerce and Labor, and also the chairman of the Federal Farm Board. The President describes it as a "small preliminary conference." There will undoubtedly be others.

The point is that Mr. Hoover, elected to office as one of the most efficient, best qualified men to give the country the administration of a business man, has definitely decided to take command. He made known that he had been conferring with numerous business leaders and public officials since the trouble began.

As Americans ran to the security markets with their money there has been a lessening of activity in the heretofore normal pursuits of trade, the administration holds. Building, both public and private, has been retarded, and there has been a lag in construction in railway, merchant marine and public utility fields.

Call Attention to Building.

Now it is the President's intention to turn the country's attention toward building projects, to revive them as national activities and thus attempt to keep the economic wheel turning without any serious national distress.

As Secretary of Commerce, Mr. Hoover advocated a plan of municipal, State and Federal building in time of stress. He has advanced the idea still further since becoming President.

It is believed now to be his purpose to get the organization for such activity set up even though it should not be found necessary, to have it ready in the knowledge that its very existence will serve to relieve the apprehension caused by the Wall street collapse.

The stock market crash was but a phase of the country's economic system, in his opinion, and with such banking machinery as the Federal Reserve System set up, there is no reason why it should make a dent in the fundamental soundness of the Nation's business. His statement made in answer to press inquiries as to what he was doing about the situation follows:

Small Preliminary Conference.

"I have during the past week engaged in numerous conferences with important business leaders and public officials with a view to the coordination of business and government.

Robbers Get $4,238 From Messengers

Subway Bandits Miss $10,000 of Securities in Holdup.

New York, Nov. 15 (A.P.)—Back in a broker's messenger boy in a corner in the crowded Wall street subway station in the heart of the financial district today, two robbers stole from his hand a package containing $4,230 in cash and securities, and escaped by mingling with home-bound commuters. The robbers overlooked $10,000 worth of securities carried by a second messenger boy, companion of the other.

The boys, Anthony Piscazzi, 19, and Gerald M. Tools, told police the robbers did not exhibit any weapons. The messengers were employed by Steiner, House & Stroock, bankers and brokers.

Police said the subway station probably was the only spot in the financial district where such a robbery could be committed, inasmuch as that whole section of the city above ground is heavily policed, and known criminals are barred from it.

School Board Downs 'Dirty Neck' Proposal

Suggested Ruling to Withhold Diplomas in Certain Cases and Plan to Eliminate Fraternity Pledge Cards Defeated After Argument.

Both the proposal to withhold the diploma of any student in District high schools, who is found guilty of any one of several offenses, among which dishonesty, immorality, and uncleanness of person or dress, and the move to eliminate pledge cards requiring pupils to declare they are not members of unapproved fraternities, were defeated yesterday afternoon at a lengthy meeting of seven members of the Board of Education acting as a committee of the whole.

The proposals will have to be voted on again by the members of the board, but the same results are expected even though two of the board members were absent yesterday. The suggested rule, which has come to be known as "the dirty neck rule," for refusing diplomas on the grounds of offenses of character even when the pupil in question had the required 34 credits in academic work, came up for the most discussion, pro and con. It was defeated by a vote of

+ to 2, the chairman, Charles F. Carusi, not voting even though he had indicated his approval of its passage.

The board held that a previous rule, which gave principals the authority to suspend or dismiss a pupil guilty of any of the violations cited in the proposed rule, save dishonesty and untruthfulness, was sufficient.

The members, following the voting of disapproval by Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, and desirous of showing that their negative votes were directed at the proposal itself and not, at "character training," as the superintendent intimated, adopted a substitute motion calling for the creation of a committee of teachers and school officials to formulate a program for character education.

Dr. Ballou told the board that he seriously regretted the action in defating the rule proposed by Mrs.

STORE THIEF TAKES $5,000 IN DIAMONDS

Jewel Tray Lifted at Shop in Seventh Street Under Eyes of Crowd.

LOSS DISCOVERED LATER

A tray of diamonds, valued at approximately $5,000, was removed from a showcase in the Franc Jewelry Co. at 237 Seventh street northwest, between 4 o'clock and 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Headquarters detectives were dispatched to the store as soon as the robbery was discovered about 5 o'clock. The jewels were missed when a clerk went to the showcase to exhibit the diamonds.

C. D. Kaufman, manager of the store, said that the stolen diamonds had last been seen shortly before 4 o'clock. It is believed that while a large crowd was in the store the thief slipped his hand over the showcase and extracted the tray. This would be an easy matter, police point out, as the case is low.

The stolen tray was small and could have been conveniently concealed in a pocket or beneath a coat.

The tray contained about 15 diamonds ranging in value from $200 to $500 each. An inventory of the stolen jewels had not been completed early last night, and their exact value could not be determined.

Headquarters Detectives Carlton Talley and H. K. Wilson, assisted by Sixth Precinct police, are investigating.

Robbers Kidnap Policeman, Then Loot Bank and Stores

Officer Is Forced to Watch as They Grab Cash and Steal Auto.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 15 (A.P.)—Two young robbers kidnapped Motorcycle Patrolman Edgar E. Willcutt here late this afternoon, after he had shown suspicion of their movements, forced him to accompany them on a crime expedition in this vicinity, and then released him unharmed on a busy street in the eastern part of the city.

While special police patrols patrolled the city streets and highways leading out of town, the robbers looted a bank and two stores, besides stealing an automobile. Willcutt was forced to accompany the men in their work, which took place in two suburban towns.

Willcutt was kidnapped when he drew up beside a sedan which had

U.S. ACCEPTS JANUARY 21 AS PARLEY DATE

Delegation for Naval Conference to Sail on S. S. Olympic.

SON OF LATE W.H. PAGE NAMED STIMSON'S AID

Secretary to Start Talks With Others in Group Soon.

HOOVER ARMISTICE DAY TALK PRAISED ABROAD

Influential London Papers Review It Favorably in Editorial Columns.

(Associated Press.)

The United States has notified Great Britain of its acceptance of January 21 as the date for the first meeting of the London naval conference.

The approval was given in reply to a request of the British government to the United States, Japan, France and Italy, the other powers participating in the conference, asking whether the proposed date was satisfactory.

The American delegation plans to arrive in London three or four days before the opening of the parley.

Staff to Go Ahead.

The White Star liner Olympic will transport the delegation. While Secretary Stimson would have preferred an American vessel, the Leviathan, the only first-class ship of the American transatlantic service sailing at the time, would land the American commission in England three or four days too late.

A part of the American mission, including numerous clerks, stenographers and staff members, is expected to take another vessel of the United States lines sailing before the Olympic. The delegation and the principal advisers are expected to accompany Stimson on the Olympic.

The White House announced yesterday that Arthur Wilson Page, son of the late Walter Hines Page, former Ambassador to Great Britain, has been chosen as a personal aid to Stimson for the conference. While the White House did not indicate the nature of the duties which Page will perform, it was reliably reported he will have a part in the liaison between the delegation and the press.

The other duties as aid to Stimson will be determined by the Secretary upon his return to Washington from a hunting trip in Virginia.

Wilson Expected to Attend.

Commenting on the circumstances of the tragedy, Judge Moss referred to the fact that young Carroll and his companions were engaged in an innocent pastime, skating on the bridge, and while they placed themselves in a dangerous position, the fact that Epstein admittedly was in a drunken condition did not minimize his culpability.

Continuing, the judge said failure to stop after an accident is liable to a year's imprisonment and moreover made him guilty of involuntary manslaughter.

The jurist said the defendant was in no condition to drive an automobile. Calling an automobile a weapon, Judge Moss said that persons should be as careful or as much afraid of handling cars as they would firearms or the like.

Judge Moss declared there was no room for complaint on the part of Epstein as to the sentence invoked because he had been living "without the law for ten years." This was interpreted as an indirect reference to the like.

that symptoms of peritonitis had been confined a locality as could be expected in view of the dangerous nature of the appendix excision and hope was expressed that its spread could be arrested.

His temperature had been at 102, which, while high, was not alarming. Attendants were pleased with the skill of his surgeon and the patient seemed to have without the shock of the operation with remarkable strength.

Mrs. Good Sees Him.

Mrs. Good was permitted to see her husband yesterday, but it could not be learned whether she was allowed in the sick room after the secretary's condition became so grave.

At the time of the operation on Good attending surgeons said that it would be 72 hours before the patient could show a definite trend toward improvement. The crisis would not be past, they said, until almost noon today.

The excision was one of the most delicate ever performed at the Government hospital. Gangrene was suspected when the appendicitis was found to be so far developed in the tissues that their removal was extremely difficult. Col. Keller performed the operation with Dr. Boone in attendance.

The hope of physicians was further heightened by the remarkable arrangement of sleeping done by Good. A sound rest on Thursday night had provided him with sufficient vitality to enable him to take his first food yesterday morning. He slept after the light breakfast in the morning and dined seven o'clock in the evening.

The White House stills the source of all information on the developments in the Secretary's condition yesterday. Secretaries kept the President informed of every report and many reporters who kept busy answering telephones called at the Capitol and from high ranking Army officers and high Government officials.

A gall of gloom hovered about the chief Executive's mansion and about the offices of the Cabinet official in the War Department.

Crew of Grounded Freighter Rescued

Ship Possessing Cargo Valued at $225,000 Is Abandoned.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 15 (A.P.)—All hope of saving the freighter Briton, stranded on a shoal of Point Abino, was abandoned today and the crew of 27 men was taken off the ship by United States Coast Guardsmen.

The freighter, reported at nightfall as settling fast, was given directions of breaking up under the pounding of high waves.

Before the ship was abandoned, four tugs made a final attempt to pull her off the rocks. A lighter was also used in endeavoring to bring the dangerous position of the Briton in safety. It was made to salvage her cargo of silk and wheat valued at $225,000.

$25,000 Fee Is Aim of Sugar Lobbyist

Shattuck Tells Senate Unit He Expects That Much "or More" for Work.

CARAWAY CENSURES HIM

(Associated Press)

Investigating campaigns on the sugar tariff, the Senate lobby committee learned yesterday from Edwin P. Shattuck, attorney for the United States Sugar Association, that he expected $25,000 "or more" for his appearances before congressional committees this year to oppose an increase in this duty.

Questioned sharply, Shattuck injected into the testimony a statement that the Cuban sugar interests were alarmed over possible intervention by the United States in the affairs of Cuba. He attributed this condition to "attacks by irresponsible persons" on the administration of President Machado, and named Joseph Barlow, an American claimant against the Cuban government.

As for his Washington work, the witness said he had appeared before the House ways and means committee and the Senate finance committee and also had consulted frequently with Senator Smoot, of Utah, Watson of Indiana, Edge of New Jersey, Republicans; and Hawes, of Missouri, a Democrat.

Duplicity Is Alleged.

Royal D. Mead, of the Hawaiian Sugar Planters Association, told a committee to explain a statement in a letter he wrote last August stating that the Cuban sugar interests were "creased" by the action of the Senate finance committee in refusing to eliminate completely the sugar import duty and that they have only one idea as to the application of such contributions.

Their whole theory is one direct attack on the Cuban sugar interests, according to their own ideas, must have gone directly into the pockets of the members of the finance committee."

No Reflection Intended.

Mead explained he meant no reflection by the letter upon H. C. Lakin, president of the Cuba Co., and Shattuck, who is associated with Lakin.

"From the way the Cubans have treated us I wouldn't hesitate to say anything about them," Mead asserted.

"They're your competitors, aren't they?" asked Chairman Caraway, of the lobby committee.

"I'm sorry, I'm bitter once," Mead said.

After Mead finished his testimony the committee adjourned until Tuesday.

Shattuck Is Reprimanded.

Examination of Shattuck was marked by frequent clashes with Senator Caraway. At one time, after being asked whether any one had told him he must accept a sliding scale of sugar duties or the House ratification, he said:

"Please be conscientious. You asked me to come here."

"Just a minute," retorted Caraway. "I'm tired of your lecturing. Answer the question!"

The witness admitted that Senator Smoot might have told him that, but he was not certain.

Gems Taken in Holdup Reported Recovered

St. Louis, Nov. 15 (A.P.)—Police were notified today that $78,000 in jewelry taken from Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. J. Frederick Byers, the latter couple of Pittsburgh, Pa., in a holdup on a highway near the Bridlespur Hunt Club here, November 10, has been recovered by an insurance company, with which some of the gems had been insured.

Runaway Princess Caught.

Constantinople, Nov. 15 (A.P.)—Turkish police today arrested the household princess, Chadié, niece of the late Sultan, who had been held by the imperial family, had been released when she tried to return to Turkey with her three children. Her divorced husband in Paris denounced her to the authorities, who will send her back to France.

Mr. Philip Metz, daughter of Norman E. Metz, Democratic national committeeman, estimated her loss in jewelry at $10,000. She said she had been told she must accept a sliding scale of sugar duties or the House ratification.

The prediction that the House would pass legislation necessary to bring about the temporary reductions for the 1890 returns before the Christmas holidays was made by Representative Van Cleef.

The Maryland voter, Mrs. Raymond Allan Van Cleef, whose pearl necklace, worth at least $200,000, seemed to be the main objective of the raiders. This feeling was expressed today by Metz.

"My necklace is only an imitation," she said. "Strange they didn't bother to take that. We feel the thieves probably knew the value of Mrs. Van Cleef's string and came here with the express purpose of taking it."

Mack's Daughter $65,000 Victim.

Mrs. Philip Metz, daughter of Norman E. Metz, Democratic national committeeman, estimated her loss in jewelry at $10,000. She said she had been told she must accept a sliding scale of sugar duties or the House ratification.

When the armed and masked men suddenly broke into the dining room and ordered the guests to throw up their hands, they all thought it was a joke and felt no fear.

"We wanted to scare about it at first," she said. "But when one of them started to yank on my string of pearls we knew it was serious business. Then they took the rest of my jewels. When it was almost over I began to tremble jokingly that they had taken everything but my clothes and asked if they would like them."

"They saw the joke. One of them picked up my pocketbook and took out $5 which he dropped on the table, telling me I had better take it as I looked as though I needed it."

Others Show Nerve, Too.

The other women showed just as much courage during the ordeal. Mrs. Carson, the hostess, defied the holdup men and, slipping from the room, ran upstairs where her son lay asleep. One of the robbers quickly followed her, but allowed her to remain at the baby's cradle. Mrs. Carson fainted but was carried when the intruders had left.

Those who were held up besides Mr. and Mrs. Carson and Mr. and Mrs. Van Cleef were Mr. and Mrs. Gibson Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Metz, Mr. and Mrs. William Hamilton Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Geating, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Williams, Eleanor Cameron, Courtland Van Cleef, Elbridge Silway and Pauline Bredstow.

Bedford Tobacco Prices Are Higher

Market Opens With Largest Sale In Its History; Quality Is Good.

Special to The Washington Post.

Bedford, Va., Nov. 15.—The Bedford tobacco market opened this morning the largest opening in the history of the market. The price this year was much higher than last year, the average price brought Tuesday being just a little more than twice the average price on opening day, last year.

It was noted that the crop of tobacco in Bedford County is of a superior quality this year, far better than it has been for several seasons.

While the best grades are bringing some more than last year, the greatest increase is in the prices of the cut and common grades of tobacco.

Bidding has been brisk, showing a desire for the weed by the buyers. Both warehouses here are operated under the same management, as was done last year.

$10,000 DEAD, $5,000 ALIVE FOR ROBBERS

Uncle of Buffalo Society Girl at Dinner Holdup Posts Unique Reward.

WOMAN TELLS OF RAID

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 15 (N.Y.W.N.S.). It is worth twice as much to the squads of private, State and county detectives on the trail of the seven men who raided a dinner party at the home of John L. Carson, Jr., last night and stripped eighteen socially prominent guests of jewelry valued at from $25,000 to $50,000, to capture their quarter dead rather than alive.

Rewards of $10,000 for each defendant identified and $5,000 for each one taken alive were offered today by Frank B. Baird, uncle of Eleanor Cameron, whose engagement to Courtland Van Cleef was being celebrated at the party. Baird gave no explanation of the amount.

Thus far no definite clew to the identity of the five youths and two older men who perpetrated what is believed to be the most daring and profitable holdup ever committed in Buffalo has been discovered.

TAX CUT FAVORED BY PARTY LEADERS

Tilson Predicts House Will Act Favorably on Proposal Before Christmas.

SENATE PASSAGE IS SEEN

(Associated Press)

From all expressions on Capitol Hill, it appears yesterday that party leaders in Congress were as desirous of action on the proposed 1 per cent cut in normal taxes on individual and corporation incomes early in the December session as are the millions of citizens who would be benefited.

The robbers showed remarkable discrimination in looting the guests, since they took only the most valuable jewelry and paid no attention to the women who were wearing diamond rings.

Mr. Page Given
New Post by Mr. Stimson

Son of Late Ambassador to London Is Named Personal Aid.

By JEAN ELIOT.
THE announcement that Mr. Arthur Wilson Page, son of the late Walter Hines Page, had been appointed as a personal aid to the Secretary of State, Mr. Stimson, for the forthcoming arms conference, was coupled with the statement that Mr. Page would not be Mr. Nelson T. Johnson's successor as Assistant Secretary of State, a report which was being pretty generally circulated. So that leaves us still in the air as to who will be given this important post.

Being one of the few bachelors in the "little cabinet" group, Mr. Johnson's departure will leave a considerable gap. But his appointment as Minister to China is unanimously applauded. Not only does he rank with Mr. John Van A. MacMurray, the retiring Minister to China, as one of the foremost authorities on Chinese affairs, but he speaks Chinese. So many American envoys sent to foreign posts are handicapped by knowing only English and thus being out of touch with the people they most need to know, that it seems almost too good to be true that a man could be found for this post who is familiar with the intricacies of the Chinese language.

Nearly 20 years ago Mr. Johnson passed his examinations as a student interpreter in China, and much of his service since has been in the Far East. He has served at Mukden, Harbin, Hanhow, Shanghai, Chungking and Changsha, so that he has a rather comprehensive knowledge of the far-flung country to which he is going. Before being made Assistant Secretary of State, he was for a number of years chief of the Division of Far Eastern Affairs of the State Department.

Prominently Mr. Johnson's "official house" in the legation will be his sister, Miss Elizabeth Johnson, who has been making her home with him in Washington and who was with him in China for many years.

As the son of Mr. Walter Hines Page, who is so popular in England during the war when he was serving as Ambassador to the Court of St. James under Woodrow Wilson, Mr. Arthur Wilson Page should find a warm welcome awaiting him in London.

Son-in-Law Visits
Vice President Curtis.

Vice President, Mr. Charles Curtis, has as his guest, his son-in-law, Mrs. Charles P. George, of Fort Sill, Okla., who has been attending the National Horse Show in New York. Diplomatic Quarter at Observatory Circle Is Enhanced.

The Minister of Norway and Mme. Bachrach will be the next to join the diplomatic colony centering about Observatory Circle, which was officially founded with the establishment of the new British Embassy in this picturesque region bordering on Massachusetts avenue. Ground has been purchased by the Norwegian government and, although construction has not yet begun, state plans have been drawn for a handsome structure, which will house the chancery as well as the minister's residence. The Minister and Mme. Bachrach are at present living at the Mayflower, where they will remain until the new legation is completed.

Mrs. Myers Fitter, of Philadelphia, will arrive today to visit Miss Marian King, and to take part in the activities of Children's Book Week, which will open here today and will continue through next week. Mrs. Fitter is the author of "Reddy," a delightful story of life in a small town and of "the gang" of small boys who helped wake up the town.

Mrs. Fitter is well known through her social activities and for her efficient management of the annual Devon Horse Show. She has a beautiful home in Washington and one charming room, furnished in early American pieces and overlooking charming vistas of lawns, gardens and woodland, is the workshop in which "Reddy" came into being.

Mrs. Fitter's daughter, Miss Faith Fitter, was presented to society in Philadelphia this week.

The Italian Ambassador, Nobile Giacomo de Martino, has returned to the embassy from New York, where he went to attend the National Horse Show in which the Italian minstrel team was entered. The dinner which the ambassador will give on Monday evening in honor of the members of the team will be official in character. The members of the team will entertain the team at luncheon at the Army, Navy and Marine Corps Country Club on Monday, and on Tuesday the Military Attaché of the Italian Embassy, Gen. Augusto Villa, will have a luncheon at the Mayflower for the group and a number of Army officers. Later that afternoon

HOOVER TAKES CONTROL.

President Hoover has determined upon a course of action with a view to marshaling the Nation's powerful financial and economic resources against possible ill effects of the recent crashes in the stock market. He has assumed active and personal control of a movement designed to restore confidence in the basic strength of business and to provide for a coordinated forward movement of legitimate stimulation and expansion.

Discussing the stock market slump for the first time, Mr. Hoover announced at the White House yesterday that he would call a preliminary conference next week of representatives of industry, agriculture and labor to meet with members of his Cabinet and with the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board. The purpose of the meeting will be to take practical steps to organize and coordinate a forward business movement, to stimulate exports, and to expand legitimate construction activities and other legitimate enterprises. A substantial reserve fund of capital and the strong cash position of the large manufacturing industries will be available to give the necessary impetus to the President's plan.

The whole program announced by Mr. Hoover is in keeping with his method of applying constructive remedies after full ascertainment of the necessary facts. An exhaustive survey of business conditions as affected by the market slump has preceded the President's plan of action. The basic idea of legitimate business expansion at a time when such expansion will be most helpful to a community or to a nation has long been regarded as a sound economic doctrine by Mr. Hoover.

The psychological effect of the President's statement, "supported as it is by a program of immediate action, will be welcomed generally, especially by those who have been convinced since the first signs of the slump that the Nation's economic fabric is fundamentally sound. The leaders of American industry will be bound to feel the reassuring effects of the proposed movement. If there be timid ones among them who have been inclined to hold back on construction work or other activities, they will have a patriotic as well as a practical incentive to go forward with their programs. By diverting capital into the security market, the speculative period has caused a lagging of construction work, with postponement of buildings, railroads, public utilities and public works, and the opportunity is now at hand for going forward all along the line with these interrupted enterprises.

Furthermore, the forward movement started by the President will doubtless expand and gather momentum until it affects State and municipal programs, as well as the enterprises which the President has in mind at the moment. There is no reason why State executives can not emulate the example from the White House.

In his public statement yesterday the President pays tribute to the "magnificent working" of the Federal Reserve system and the inherently sound condition of the banks, which have brought about a decrease in interest rates and an assurance of abundant capital.

Pessimism over the stock market is as unjustified as overoptimism, the President warns, adding that "any lack of confidence in the economic future or the basic strength of business is foolish."

Action, not words, is the President's slogan. The Nation will heartily support his present program, while confidence in its success will extend from coast to coast.

"FLEXIBLE" TAX RELIEF.

One phase of the administration's tax reduction plan needs further emphasis. It is not proposed to change the revenue laws so that henceforth taxpayers would be assessed at a reduced rate. Congress is asked to pass a resolution which will merely bring about temporary relief. Prospects of a surplus are seen by the Treasury and it is proposed to distribute that surplus to taxpayers for a single year. Should Congress pass the resolution this year and fail to do so next year the tax rates would revert to their present status.

Republican and Democratic leaders in Congress are reported to be in accord with the plan to grant temporary tax relief. It is inconceivable, however, that the Democrats will not make political capital out of temporary or flexible tax relief in an election year. The apparent harmony may not last long when the resolution reaches the Senate floor.

Tax reduction by the resolution method is being characterized as the first step toward a flexible system of taxation which would enable the administration to give taxpayers the benefit of "accidental surpluses" whenever they occur. The plan has been given extensive study by the Treasury Department, and it is suggested that the administration be empowered to alter tax rates to fit estimated revenue and expenditures. The plan is too serious a departure from the traditional policy to expect Congress to accept it.

Any flexible scheme of taxation would give the party in power a tremendous political advantage. It would make it possible to reduce taxes in election years and make up the difference when the people could not protest at the polls.

BLACK CANYON TROUBLES.

A second State in the Colorado River basin has rebelled against the Government's plans for development of irrigation and power at Black Canyon. Gov. George H. Dern of Utah has issued a statement based on a decision of the Colorado River commission of that State, protesting against the proposed sale of power at 1.63 mills per kilowatt hour.

Two weeks ago the Arizona commission decided to challenge the constitutionality of the Black Canyon Dam act in the courts.

This protest of the Utah commission brings out the underlying opposition of the States in the upper basin to the entire project. The controversy among the lower basin States has been over water, but power is the whole issue in Utah and some of the other States near the headwaters. These States are not yet in a position to utilize much water from the Colorado, and will derive little benefit from the river for many years. They have no flood-control problem, and the power to be generated is not easily available to them. The Utah commission is now gripped by the fear that this new source of cheap power in southern California will draw all industrial development away from the intermountain region.

Gov. Dern contends that the State Legislature would never have ratified the six-State compact, on which the Black Canyon Dam act is based, had it been aware of the turn which events have taken. Once before Utah withdrew from the compact because the legislature was convinced that the interests of the State were not protected.

Will the State again withdraw in protest against cheap power for California? What is to prevent any one of the seven State Legislatures from withdrawing and upsetting the whole program?

The Utah protest maintains that the rate proposed by the Secretary of the Interior would be less than competitive. Prices should be controlled by competition, so that the Government will not be placed in the position of subsidizing California industry.

Not only would the present plan interfere with the ambitions of the Rocky Mountain States for industrial development, but it would diminish the market for their coal.

Determined opposition may be expected.

Each new development in the situation offers more evidence that the Government should never have launched such a project.

WHAT ABOUT THE FARM SURPLUS?

In an address delivered before the American Institute of Food Distribution Samuel R. McElveen, member of the Federal Farm Board, said: "The purpose of the Farm Board under the agricultural marketing act is to give the farmer bargaining power equal to that enjoyed by those who deal in or consume his products. This means collective bargaining, and it is to be brought about by affiliating existing cooperatives and creating others along commodity lines so that producers may meet the market on a large-scale basis. Despite the fact that about one-third of the agricultural commodities in this country are handled cooperatively, the farmer deals in small units without adequate coordination of his efforts as to grading or distribution and without credit facilities to encompass a program of orderly action.

The decoration of the Rotunda was his great ambition. He knew that the tremendous height and width of the vaulted room would lend themselves to mural decoration, and at every spare moment he worked on the cartoons for the decoration of the canopy and the frieze. The frieze was done in imitation of sculpture, in alto-relievo. The belt upon which the frieze is painted is 100 feet long.

When Brumidi began his work on the frieze he was over 70 years old, but he planned and rigged the scaffolding, a sliding affair, and every day the striking figure of the old man, his hair and beard snow white, might be seen being hoisted by a system of pulleys to what he called his "shop." He worked from 10 in the morning until 3 in the afternoon, and his descent from the lofty height was an event of the day to the visitors, who watched anxiously the slowly moving ropes until his cage was safely landed. He was three years on this work and received $30,000, the only decoration for which he was paid a lump sum. In January, 1880, he was taken ill, as the result of a partial fall, and never recovered. The decoration was left unfinished.

It is a splendid thing to organize the farmers so that they can exercise a bargaining power equal to that enjoyed by those who deal in or consume their product. Only good will be accomplished thereby. But if the farmer can not also be brought to realize that, like those who deal in or consume his product, he must limit production to demand, his comprehensive marketing machine will be of no service. Driving home this gospel will be a far larger task than the creation of the Nation-wide marketing machine.

WILL WOMEN REVOLT?

In spite of the public interest in President Hoover's plan to immunize food ships, in the tariff imbroglio in the Senate, in the stock market debacle and other momentous events, probably no one of these developments has stirred up American households so much as the lengthening of skirts. Paris has decreed that skirts shall be longer, and longer they must be. Usually the dictates of fashion are monthly followed. This year it appears they are being followed but not meekly.

While skirts were being shortened it was argued that women accepted the decree of the Parisian dictators because it gave them greater freedom. The comfort and healthfulness of the short skirt were considered justification for abandoning tradition and following style. In their enthusiasm women predicted that long dresses were gone forever. The cotton and woolen industries sighed, but the silk stocking manufacturers rejoiced in this new freedom. Now that the hose interests have had their inning, and skirts are following the recent plunge of the stock market, what will the women say of their freedom?

A suggestion as to what the reaction will be emanates from Hartford, where the issue was injected into a meeting of the Connecticut League of Women Voters. One independent soul framed a resolution calling attention to the fact that "commercial interests, in the expectation of greater profit through more rapid style changes, are attempting to foist upon women the long skirt, tight waist and 'feminine details.'" She called upon the league to take a stand against this new invasion of feminine liberty, but without avail. Some members were willing to condemn the long skirt, but they would not go on record against it.

There is no question that the longer skirts will be ably denounced. It is logical to suppose that those who most ardently opposed the short skirt when that style was new will now become its most valiant defenders. The interesting question is: Will they who condemn the new style continue to wear their dresses at the knees?

THE ARTIST BRUMIDI

From the Dictionary of American Biography.

Brumidi, Constantino (July 26, 1805–February 19, 1880), painter, was born in Rome, his father a Greek and his mother an Italian. As a young boy he showed great talent for drawing and became a pupil of the Academy of Fine Arts. When 13 years old he was admitted to the Academia di San Luca, studying painting under Baron Camuccini and modeling under Canova and Thorwaldsen. During the pontificate of Pius IX, he was commissioned with three other Roman artists to restore the Raphael frescoes in the Loggia of the Vatican. He also painted the Pio's portrait for the Vatican Gallery, for which he received a gold medal.

Brumidi was made a captain of the papal guards, and in 1848 when Rossi was assassinated and the Pope fled to Gaeta, Brumidi was ordered to turn the guns of his command upon the people. This he refused to do, with the result that he was arrested and thrown into prison, where he remained four months.

When the Pope was restored to power, he had the artist released and advised him to leave Italy forever. He decided upon America as the haven of his exile and arrived in New York in 1852. He at once received recognition and painted an altar piece, "The Crucifixion," for St. Stephen's Church. Later he went to Mexico where he painted "The Holy Trinity" in the Cathedral at Mexico City.

Upon his return, Brumidi secured his naturalization papers in Washington, and there became inspired by the possibilities of the Capitol as adapted to fresco. At his first meeting with Capt. Meigs, superintendent of the Capitol, who was apparently interested in examples of Roman grandeur, Brumidi's services were accepted. His first work was the decoration of the agricultural committee room, where he selected as his subject "Cincinnati at the Plough." This was painted in 1855, being the first example of fresco in America.

Brumidi's work in the Capitol, from then on, extended over 30 years. In the corridors, Washington at Valley Forge, the Battle of Lexington, the death of Gen. Wooster, the storming of Stony Point, and the Boston Massacre, were all graphically portrayed. In the committee rooms, Brumidi painted symbolic figures, typifying History, Geography, Arts and Sciences, Mechanics, Commerce and War; also portraits of Robert Fulton, Franklin, Morse and John Fitch. When he began his work he received only $8 a day; later Jefferson Davis had this increased to $10.

The decoration of the Rotunda was his great ambition. He knew that the tremendous height and width of the vaulted room would lend themselves to mural decoration, and at every spare moment he worked on the cartoons for the decoration of the canopy and the frieze. The frieze was done in imitation of sculpture, in alto-relievo. The belt upon which the frieze is painted is 100 feet long.

TAX CUT CRITICIZED AT GRANGE SESSION

Resolution Asks Surplus Be Devoted to Schools in Rural Sections.

DEBENTURE PLAN URGED

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 15. (A.P.)—Criticizing the action of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon in recommending a $160,000,000 income tax cut, a resolution introduced on the convention floor of the National Grange here today advocated the use of such surplus for rural school development.

Such money, it was argued, should be dedicated, among other purposes, throughout the rural districts of the union for school purposes.

This plan not only would relieve the farmer of a considerable portion of his taxation, but would bring the Federal government into educational work, which is similar to its activities in road construction.

The proposal and another resolution voting approval of the activities of the Federal Farm Board were held over as future business.

Debenture Is Stressed

John Nease, Columbus, Ind., State Grange master, said the resolution pledging support to the Federal Farm Board he amended so that the National Grange would reaffirm its insistence upon the enactment of the principle of the export debenture as a necessary part of any adequate farm relief program under the proposed tariff system.

"Three years ago we adopted the export debenture plan as the most practical and most equitable for striking at the root of our present agricultural difficulty and bringing the industry in under the beneficence of protection," he said.

"Since that time hundreds of our leading economists, college professors and business men have acknowledged the justice of our demands and the efficacy of the remedy proposed. A majority of the Senate of the United States has thrice voted to adopt the plan."

Hill Called Inadequate

The Federal Farm Board or commission was proposed by the grange six years ago and has now become a working body. Nothing in its announced policies or activities indicates that the board expects to solve the basic problem of raising farm crop prices above the world level and securing a protected price for our growers.

"Only by this means can the farmer be relieved from the disastrous consequences of constantly buying his supplies, labor and taxes in a protected high price market and selling his products in a low price world market." The debenture is the only tool which can be used successfully by the board to bring about near ideal conditions.

Harry A. Caton, secretary of the national grange, referred to the House bill as "ineffective" by the House and revised by the Senate, "as entirely inadequate to meet the needs of agriculture."

Rates on agricultural items should be increased and rates on many non-agricultural items decreased, he said.

He said that a better and greater equality between agriculture and other groups be established.

Labor Holiday Bill Delayed by Britain

Measure Providing Leave for All Workers Objected To by Conservatives.

London, Nov. 15 (A.P.)—No provision in an annual bill of eight days with pay for all workers who have been employed anywhere for at least a year was given second reading in the House of Commons today.

J. J. Lawson, parliamentary secretary to the ministry of labor, opposed the principle of the bill, but was unable to give the time necessary for passing it. Conservatives strongly objected to the bill, asserting it would cost industry $900,000,000 yearly. The bill was sponsored by E. Winterbottom, Labor.

There was an amendment made for the government spokesman made plain that the bill would have to wait until the next session of Parliament.

"Tay Pay" O'Connor Confined to His Bed

London, Nov. 15 (A.P.)—Some anxiety is felt here concerning the condition of T. P. ("Tay Pay") O'Connor, "Chair of the House of Commons," who has been confined to his bed for the last ten days.

O'Connor has been having trouble with one of his legs, which is in a septic condition. Lord Dawson of Penn, the king's physician, has been in attendance. O'Connor is 81 years old.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

WHERE is many an unsung leader of men in this world. There is no telling but that the unobtrusive, even timid, man that you have just talked with on the street has in him those qualities of leadership, or being able to take command of an emergency when one arises.

We recall the sudden appearance of one only the other day upon the occasion of a case of soft drinks falling from a truck on an outlying road. Broken glass was scattered all over the place and in no time the traffic was in a terrible jam.

Everybody just sat around honking their horns and asking what it was all about. Even the truck drivers had no idea of what to do.

WHEN there appeared one of those fellows whose leadership qualities have been hidden because he never had a chance. This man may have been a corporal in the war, but without his uniform there was nothing to distinguish him from the others who stood around.

Certainly he did not appear forceful until he spoke, then there was a mastery in his voice that no one could deny.

YOU get a broom and you get one," he commanded briskly of two fellows standing by, and they moved off to do so without a murmur or refusal. Then as they proceeded to sweep up the glass he waited on motorists just driving up and wondering what all the trouble was about. "Just a case of soft drinks fell off a truck," he explained cordially. "I am having it swept up. Everything will be all right in a jiffy."

And when the glass was swept up he took up the direction of the traffic and soon had it moving normally. He was too courteous to ask who he was, or to challenge his authority. And when the scene cleared there he was, a hero unsung.

Now one would never take Senator Hamilton F. Keen, of New Jersey, of all people, to be a leader of men. Yet he is just that. He is, indeed, the leader of the Senate's new bloc, the young Turks or the snappy movement or whatever it may be called. Believe it or not.

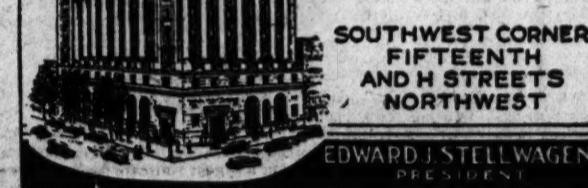

The senator, tall and gaunt and sparsely possessed of hair, would be taken for most anything, perhaps a deacon, but not a leader of men. He is so retiring, so mild of manner, so naive in many things—that well, he would be the last one you would pick out to be the leader of the movement.

When the new movement developed, newspapermen ran helter-skelter to find out what it was all about. They ran immediately into Senator Vandenberg with his chest stuck way out. He must be the leader, they assumed. No one could have exactly his air of confidence if he were not.

THIS is the reason that the word went out that Vandenberg was the leader of the new movement. No one would have ever guessed it was Keen. There he was, hidden tim-

French women discovered that smart appearance is impossible with a chilly spine. Adirondia are winter woolens which have added silk, which support the new silhouette, and which have taken on delightful shades of pink, green, blue, as well as natural and white. EXPORTS INCREASE; NEAR 1921 RECORD

October Sees $530,000,000 Outgoing Merchandise, Department Says.

IMPORTS ALSO ON GAIN

(Associated Press)

Exports of merchandise from the United States during October amounted to $530,000,000, an increase of $88,000,000 over the previous month.

With the exception of October and November, 1921, exports exceeded $500,000,000 and $544,012,000, respectively.

October exports exceeded those of any previous month since January, 1921, when the total was $654,300,000.

In making public the figures the Department of Commerce also announced that imports of merchandise during October amounted to $500,000,000, an increase of $90,000,000 compared with the previous month and a gain over all months since last

May.

The increase in exports was attributed largely to the movement of raw cotton, flour, meat, electrical and agricultural machinery, mineral oil and automobiles.

For the ten months ending October exports amounted to $4,374,000,000, an increase of $265,000,000 over the corresponding period of 1928, and in excess of any similar period since 1920.

Imports for the first ten months were valued at $3,782,000,000, an increase of $257,000,000 over the similar period of last year. This also was an increase over any corresponding period since 1920.

New Haven Football on Air Today

Bill Munday to Describe Yale-Princeton Contest in His Georgian Drawl. "Butterfly" Opera at 7 and Damrosch at 9.

The annual gridiron clash at New Haven between the football teams of Yale and Princeton, two of the "Three" of football tradition, will be described play-by-play for radio listeners by the drawing Georgian, William S. ("Bill") Munday, at 1:45 o'clock. WRC will be a member of the National Broadcasting Co. chain during the broadcast.

Station WMAL will be in the network of stations for which Ted Husing will call the Notre Dame game. University of Southern California from Chicago. The time is 2:15 o'clock.

Radio receives an accolade tonight when "Mme. Butterfly" will be broadcast over WRC and a nation-wide network of stations associated with the National Broadcasting Co. It is the first time in the history of radio that a Puccini opera becomes a broadcast feature. The same meticulous attention to detail that mark the performances at the Metropolitan, in New York; the same talent in soloists and musicians—the zenith in artistry—will be heard in grand style in its truest sense with music the radio production of "Butterfly."

Mme. Frances Alda, who has resigned from the Metropolitan to sing for radio audiences exclusively, will be Cho-Cho-San. Miss Mabel Cook will be Suzuki. Pasquale Amato will be Alceo. Alfred O'Shea will be Lieut. E. F. Pinkerton. Gennaro Papi will conduct. Deems Taylor will do the operatic.

Almost since the time radio broadcasting began, efforts have been made to win the privilege of airing the opera on the air. This year arrangements were made to broadcast six of the most popular Puccini operas.

Pasquale Amato, baritone, personal friend of Puccini, will be heard by the radio for the first time during this opera. He has been a Metropolitan star for sixteen years, and was long an associate of Caruso. The opera will be broadcast between 7 and 8 o'clock.

Senators Arthur Capper, of Kansas, and Gerald P. Nye, of North Dakota, will be the speakers in the National Farm and home hour broadcast from Station WRC at 1 o'clock today.

Florence Nightingale is the challenger to be dramatized in the program at 8 o'clock. The Red Cross, which she started so modestly during the Boer War, has grown into a world-wide organization always ready to help humanity.

Dr. Walter Damrosch will conduct the symphony orchestra at 9 o'clock. This program will also be participated in by Floyd Gibbons, The Lucky Strike Dance Orchestra, under the direction of B. R. Rolfe, and at 10 o'clock.

A local dance program will close WRC's broadcast.

The program which Henry Hadley and the Gulbransen Symphony Orchestra will present at 9:30 o'clock from WMAL follows:

Overture. "Secret of Suzanne," Wolf-Ferrari; symphonic paraphrase, "Old Man River"; quintet from Die Meistersinger von Nürnberg; "Wind of My Own Romance," Herbert; and selection from "Scheherazade," Rimsky-Korsakoff.

Two Red Cross roll call speeches will be made during the early evening, the first at 6:45 o'clock from Station WRC, when Miss Mabel Boardman will address the audience, and the second at 7:20 o'clock, from Station WMAL, when Frederic Will-Wall will talk.

A new program will be started by WOL at 10:45 o'clock tomorrow morning when Miss Gretchen Hood will present a program of songs, including a 15-minute recital, Mrs. Burroughs to a new singer to Washington. Her program will include two ballads seldom attempted as solo numbers by women singers—Bartlett's "Dream" and the negro spiritual, "Deep River."

GOODNESS! I WOULD HAVE TO CRY A LOT LOUDER IF POP AND MAM WERE DEAF

DIAL FLASHES

By ROBERT D. HEINL

A TYPE of material which suggests that sooner or later there may have to be some kind of radio commission to hear over Middle Western station. It was by a "know-all" individual with an Oriental name.

A combination of the old-fashioned patent medicine man, and what Joseph Tumulty once described as "a long-faced, dimpled, bald-headed" answered questions over the radio.

"You are going to have some discouragement," he said, mentioning the name of a woman and the town in which she lived, "but there is still a chance to save your eyesight, and if you do this, you are apt to get better."

The impression gained by the listener was that the speaker might not be reluctant to suggest who that specialist might be, inasmuch as he frequently added, in answer to those who addressed questions to him, "I more fully about our case so I can advise you further."

"You are interested in a health condition," he said, mentioning the name of another woman in another town. "We are going to have an operation. I suggest you see me personally at my matinee for ladies in your city. I can then give you confidential advice. There will be an opportunity for you to see me personally and privately."

TWO important return engagements before the microphone are those of John McCormack, tenor, and Sir Harry Lauder. McCormack, who was last heard January 1, 1927, will be on the Victor program at 10 o'clock Thanksgiving night, over Station WRC.

Sir Harry will appear twice Sunday evenings. The first time he goes on will be in a fifteen-minute period presented by the sponsors of the Enna Jetnick Melodies from 8 to 8:15 o'clock. His second appearance will be at a half hour later when he will be featured in Collier's radio hour for another fifteen minutes.

Local listeners will again be disappointed, as neither of these periods will be broadcast by WRC, but possibly may be picked up through WJZ, WLIB, or other network stations.

"I like broadcasting," Sir Harry said recently. "When a fellow is before the microphone he doesn't have to worry at all whether the seats in the house are sold or no."

FOUR HURT SERIOUSLY

Buchanan, Ind., Nov. 15 (A.P.)—The James Milliken football team, which is to play Butler University football Saturday, and three railroad employees were slightly injured here today when a Baltimore & Ohio Railroad dining car was wrecked by a Monon Railroad freight engine at a cross-over.

The football team was en route to Indianapolis from Decatur, Ill. The James Milliken team is to play Butler University at Indianapolis tomorrow.

The James Milliken players injured were: Gayle Collins, Robinson, Ill., injured about the chest; Frank Shelby, Herk, Ill., back sprained; Willard Edwards, Decatur, Ill., injured; Gwendolyn Davis, Nokomis, Ill., knee and shoulder injured, and Robert Heidinger, Edwardsville, Ill., ankle injured.

Crew Members Injured.

Four railroad employees injured were: Robert Rasey, Indianapolis, dining car steward, back injured; Charles Kirk, Negro chef, Springfield, Ill., dislocated shoulder, and Concll Miller, Negro waiter, Cincinnati, cut about the face and arms.

The wreck occurred while the passenger train was stopped at the Buchanan station. The dining car at the rear of the train was across the Monon tracks. The Monon freight train, northbound and heavily loaded with building stone, approached the cross-over, but failed to stop and struck the dining car. Authorities immediately began an investigation to determine the cause of the wreck.

The Baltimore & Ohio train continued to Indianapolis without the dining car. The players were able to continue with the James Milliken team at the collision at Buchanan, Ind., when a Monon freight train wrecked the dining car in which several of the football players were seated.

Lee T. Johnson, coach, said none of his men was seriously injured. He predicted that most of them would be able to play at least a part of the game.

Player to Be Game.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 15 (A.P.)—The James Milliken football team, which is to play Butler University here tomorrow arrived this afternoon after a short stay at Chicago at Buchanan, Ind., when a Monon freight train wrecked the dining car in which several of the football players were seated.

Lee T. Johnson, coach, said none of his men was seriously injured. He predicted that most of them would be able to play at least a part of the game.

Alias received a broken leg, Methvin a fractured arm, a severe gash over one eye and cheek; Sides, a crushed leg and Graham severe cuts about the nose and mouth.

The bus was driven by Vance Crook, member of the team, who was only bruised when the machine crashed into a ditch after developing steering trouble.

Bombing of Breen Home Laid to Beer Racketeers

Chicago, Nov. 15 (A.P.)—Beer racketeers, known and sought by the police, were believed responsible today for the bombing last night of the home of James W. Breen, first assistant corporation counsel and political leader in the stock yards district. Breen told reporters he had been approached recently by beat runners who wanted "privileges" in his district, that he had refused, and that the bomb was their revenge.

The explosion did $5,000 damage to the Breen home, a two-story Spanish Colonial residence, said after talking with police officials, he would soon be able to fix responsibility for the outrage and that "important developments may be expected in a few days."

a year, and could not be mistaken in his identification of the young bookkeeper who was indicted by the July grand jury for the murder of his wife. Records of the street car company show that the last run of the car piloted by Lewark on the night of September 12 left the Soldiers' Home at 12:04 a.m. and arrived at Ninth street and New York avenue, where McPherson is alleged to have transferred, at 12:23.

Club Members Heard.

Among the members of McPherson's club who were heard yesterday, and who are understood to have testified that he attended the meeting and later went for an automobile drive, returning to his aunt's home about 12:30 o'clock on the morning of September 13, at almost the exact minute Lewark's car arrived downtown, were Robert Lyons, Harold Connor, Patrick Lynch, James White, D. G. Lockett, W. J. Armstrong, Adrian Smith and Cleve Wilson.

Dr. Thomas Ballard, close friend of Mrs. McPherson, was called yesterday, but was not heard and was notified to return on Monday.

Police Lt. Lawrence Bois, former partner of Policeman Robert J. Allen, whose criticism of the Police Department for its bungling of the original investigation of the McPherson case, was heard yesterday, was understood to have told the grand jury that he could not recall an incident related by Allen who has stated that he saw a man emerge from the window of Virginia McPherson's apartment and run along an adjacent roof early on the morning of September 12.

In addition to Ballard and Lewark, who were notified to return for interrogation Monday, it is expected that the grand jury on Monday will also question Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. McPherson, sr., parents of the accused, your reporter was informed. Shobley, Detective Joseph Waldron, who was sent to New York to check on the alibi of Ballard, and numerous others who have been interrogated during the past seven weeks by the Department of Justice.

THIRD-CLASS GRIPS SUBJECT TO SEARCH

Customs Officials Seek Method of Stopping Minor Smuggling.

SECOND ORDER ISSUED

(Associated Press) Immunity from search of their baggage enjoyed by tourists returning from abroad in third-class steamer accommodations, which resulted in minor smuggling, was ended yesterday by Commissioner of Customs Eble.

It was the first such order issued since that against hip slapping by inspectors to learn whether liquor was being carried, which Assistant Secretary Lowman ordered discontinued several weeks ago. Passengers complained of the hip slapping and officials yesterday said they had taken advantage of the perfunctory examination given baggage of third-class passengers to slip in a few hundred dollars worth of foreign merchandise.

The practice of tourists returning in third-class cabins has grown in recent years.

In years gone by, it was said, the entire third-class passenger traffic consisted of immigrants. Because years of search have shown that immigrants seldom have any type of durable nature, customs men developed a practice of merely marking such baggage with chalk and rushing it through to clear the docks. Tourists returning from abroad soon discovered the advantage of quick passage through customs and the practice of not searching their baggage. Commissioner Eble, however, upon learning that the tourists baggage was not submitted to a thorough search, telegraphed instructions to all offices to see that thereafter was clearly inscribed. The order will not cause any change in the method of handling immigrants.

Customs Pair Held For Manslaughter

Border Patrolmen to Face Grand Jury in Death of Sabrey.

Ogdensburg, N.Y., Nov. 15 (A.P.)—Arraigned late today on charges of manslaughter, second degree, in connection with the shooting of Ernest Sabrey, of Brasher Iron Works, H. J. Williams and F. Watson, suspended sentence, because he pleaded not guilty before City Judge D. H. Corcoran. They were held for the action of the county grand jury and were paroled temporarily in custody of J. C. Tulloch, customs collector, until the amount of bail is fixed.

The two patrolmen were suspended yesterday after the death of Sabrey from a bullet wound in the head.

At Potadom the inquest into the death of Sabrey was postponed until next week after conference between District Attorney William D. Ingram and Corcoran.

Sabrey died in a Potsdam hospital a short time after he had been brought there by customs men. The shooting was said to have occurred near the village of Charly Mills, after Sabrey ignored the officials' order to halt.

Woman Found Guilty In Death of Husband

Oroville, Calif., Nov. 15 (A.P.)—Mrs. Pearl Baldwin, charged with murdering her husband, William Baldwin, son of Oroville's mayor, was found guilty of manslaughter here today. The superior court jury recommended life imprisonment will be pronounced next Tuesday.

Baldwin died last September 21 of gunshot wounds after a quarrel with his wife which resulted when he returned from a hunting trip and found her preparing to go to a dance. Baldwin said he had lost his gun and that the shooting was accidental. Mrs. Baldwin, however, said she shot her husband accidentally when she picked up a rifle to defend herself from an attack by him.

Mrs. Stevens, who rushed to the kitchen following the explosion, was badly burned and tearing off burning clothing from the children. The dead are Hubert Stevens, 9, and Robert, 2. A 7-year-old sister is not expected to recover.

British Face Jump In Funds for Idle

Total of $222,500,000 Is Required, Twice Amount Estimated for Year.

London, Nov. 15 (A.P.)—Unemployment insurance in the coming year will cost British taxpayers $610,000,000. Miss Margaret Bondfield, minister of labor, has proposed legislation to extend the dole system that will increase contributions from the treasury to the unemployment insurance fund by $42,500,000.

The fund is maintained by employers, employed and the state. Previous legislation passed by the present Parliament demands another $20,000,000, making the total increase next year $82,500,000.

The state was already contributing $60,000,000 to the fund and will now have to make up $222,500,000, or more than one-third of the total of the fund and twice as much as the government provided in its 1929-30 estimate.

Another indication of the immense cost of this system is the fact that borrowings on the fund from the treasury amounted to more than $184,000,000 on November 9 last.

Arab Tribal Sheiks Agree to End Feuds

Irish Mail Auto Van

Dublin, Nov. 15 (A.P.)—A band of armed and masked men today held up the Ballina automobile van at Castle Connor, County Mayo, and robbed it of everything valuable.

The van was driven by a girl, who was seized by the band and locked in a nearby shed. The robbers included a large sum of cash, which was to have been used for paying old-age pensions and postmen's wages.

The sheiks met at Kerak, where the Transjordanian tribal council board transacted and agreed to end feuds that have been the cause of serious trouble. Some of the feuds were of twenty years' standing.

TRADING IN STOCKS LARGE, VALUES RISE

Investment Buys Are Strong as Street Normalcy Trend Continues.

RETAIL TRADE DECLINES

New York Nov. 15. (A.P.)—The stock market showed signs of being able to stand on its own feet today. Despite considerable week-end liquidation in the last hour of trading, stocks generally closed 1 to nearly 30 points higher.

Trading continued in comparatively large volume, 4,388,900 shares changing hands, but this was a substantial reduction from yesterday's turnover of 5,569,860. Urgent short covering, which undoubtedly played a large part in yesterday's sharp rally, appeared to have been completed today, and the market showed definite signs of strong investment buying, with the investment rails in particular demand.

The street regarded the trend as definitely back to normal trading conditions and comparative stability. Strong interests were still said to be prepared to offer support. Huge buying orders for Standard of New Jersey at 50 and U. S. Steel at 160 were said to be still on the spectators' books. Such support underneath the market was undoubtedly discourage further bear raids, and Wall Street looks for no major break of the support until prices are steadier and the market less vulnerable.

The day's business news was generally reassuring. It was reported from Washington that the stock market crisis had not only spurred the Government to propose income taxes, but that it may speed action on the tariff, and remove troublesome uncertainty on that score. Week-end reviews reported some fainting off in retail trade to slightly below the level of this time last year, but attributed to unseasonably warm weather as much as to the speculative excitement. Despite the general improvement in automotive and steel industries, industrial activity generally was not favorable with that of a year ago. Several banking and business leaders indicated that industry is undoubtedly stronger enough to shake off within a few months such depression as may result from the market crash.

Credit Still Improves.

The cheapening of credit was further in evidence, with the reduction of the New York rediscount rate to 4½ per cent. No similar action was announced after the weekly meeting of the Chicago Board, but it is generally expected later. Call money renewed at 8½ per cent, the first rise in the renewal rate has gone below 6 since mid-October.

Time money rates dropped so rapidly that little business was being done pending establishment of a definite level, but 30-day funds were generally quoted at 5 per cent. The Bank of the Netherlands reduced its rate to 4½ per cent, tending to bear out reports that European Central banks will bring their rates into line with the New York rate.

Continue Saturday Closing.

Trading has been maintained at with a pace this morning than the stock exchange decided to continue the three-hour session and resume closing through next week. The ticks have been able to keep close to the trading on only one day this week, and that was Monday. Commission houses still have a large hangover of trades which have gone up or down and must be adjusted. Members of the market as usual tomorrow, although the exchange will be closed for trading.

The week-end liquidation, part of which was undoubtedly the unloading of support stock bought earlier in the week, carried the majority stocks on substantially from their best levels of the day, which were recorded in the second half of the week with at least two-thirds of the gains, and a sizable assortment of stocks which have gone up or down and must be adjusted. Members of the market as usual tomorrow, although the exchange will be closed for trading.

The strong demand for the railroads, such issues as New York Central, Missouri Pacific, Chesapeake & Ohio, Island Grand Northern preferred and about 6 to 11 points. Baltimore & Ohio, Union Pacific, Pennsylvania, New Haven and Atchison closed 2 to 5 points higher.

U. S. Steel Closes at 164½.

U. S. Steel rose 7½ points to 167½ and closed at 164½. General Electric mounted 11 points to 201 and at 198. Allied Chemical and American Tobacco closed up above 15 points, and such shares as John Wanamaker, Kress, International Harvester, Anaconda, North American, Tank, North American, and International closed 6 to 12 points higher. Standard and American Telephone, Standard of New Jersey and American Gas closed about 3 points higher. Radio was one of the few important issues to close lower, but its loss was only half point.

Coca-Cola, and American Machine & Foundry were high fliers with net gains of nearly 30 points, the former having recorded an extreme gain of 35 points. International Business Machines and Midland Steel both closed about 17 and 19 points up.

Leading commodity markets were generally firm, although some sagged about one-half cent, reflecting good weather and lower cash market rates. Some closed a cent higher in response to late export sales and firm foreign market prices, closed 80 cents to a half higher.

Foreign exchanges were firm, with sterling cables at 8.475-13. The financing rates for European currencies undoubtedly reflected the sagging interest rates in this market. Further exports of gold did not seem imminent, however, save possibly to France.

GRIDIRON LEADERSHIP AT STAKE IN ALL SECTORS TODAY; GEORGETOWN-WEST VA. GAME LOOMS AS AERIAL BATTLE

Booth, Hurt, Tech Clinches Scholastic Crown

Charley Horse Keeps Yale Ace Idle; His Absence Blow.

Traditional Rivals to Hold Stage Today on East Grids.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 15 (A.P.)—Injury suffered in the Maryland game will keep little Albie Booth, Yale back field star, on the side lines tomorrow when the Blue faces Princeton in the Yale Bowl. Head Coach Mal Stevens announced today.

Word has it the little fellow would not play game as a shock on the eve of the major Eastern contest, and increased ten-fold the hopes of Black and Orange supporters for a victory in the fifty-third meeting of the two teams.

Booth has been at practice all week, although the injury to his left leg prevented him from taking any strenuous part in the workouts. On Tuesday Stevens announced that Booth would start the game, yet Booth had today worked in light-weight quarter back position on the second team.

Bob Hall, who was hurt in the Dartmouth game, has recovered sufficiently and will appear in Booth's place.

Yale to Keenly Feel Loss of Star.

The loss of Booth will be felt keenly by Yale, as his work in the Army and Dartmouth games, as well as in the Maryland game last Saturday, established the star as an almost indispensable part of the Bulldog football machine.

He was not at the short practice today, being confined in the Yale Infirmary, where every effort was made to get the "Charley horse" to respond to treatment.

In the event there is improvement, Stevens said Booth might be in uniform tomorrow although he considered the "very doubtful."

Yale and Princeton, who have been playing each other at football since 1869, are coming swing into action for their fifty-third meeting, with sentiment and tradition clothing the engagement in a wealth of color.

As the Eels have enjoyed a good season, while the sons of old Yale have had little to grin throughout October and November, Yale will enter the contest the favorite, but with a warning from the old-timers that nothing must be taken for granted. Past performances are thrown out when Bulldog and Tiger meet.

With a crowd of 75,000, utmost capacity at the Yale Bowl, assured for the classic, rain or shine, the game will lead all the rest in attendance, but other noteworthy games on the Eastern front will not lack attention.

Colgate and Syracuse, scheduled for the Syracuse battlefield, will play the 31st first time, and Colgate and Pennsylvania, clashing at New York, have been friendly rivals off and on for a generation.

BRADLEY WILL SHOW 2-YEAR-OLD STARS AT BOWIE

Stable Seeks Endurance Purse

Buckeye Poet, Night Signal and Others in Top Shape.

Breezing Thru Proves Caliber; Not Eligible for Rich Stakes.

FROM his 2-year-olds, as well as from Buddy Bauer and Be- withus, Edward Riley Bradley, of Idle Hour, expects action at Bowie during the two weeks' racing the Southern Maryland Agricultural Association will start at the Mon- day. Very likely he will get it. Breezing Thru, Buckeye Poet, Bide a Wee, Blind Love, Night Signal and Broad Meadows are going splendidly just now. All of these are home-bred and home-named, an their "B"-beginning monikers indicate barring No- Show. She is the latest import of Sky Rocket and White Glade, is a recent purchase from the stable of Sylvester Labrot, of Hollybeach.

Night Signal was good enough to take second money in the Selma Handicap after running an allowed race of 6 furlongs. She finished at the heels of Ned O. and Fortune Youth, her some-time stable companion, and Swindell in the Walden revival at Pimlico last Saturday. She herself, in the Selma Handicap, Administer, Star and Cul- tured Night Signals, obviously, like to go on. She will have a chance to do so on the winner's end of a $15,000 purse—perhaps as much as $12,000—at Bowie November 30 in the Eclipse Renewal, a dash of 1 1/16 miles like the Walden and the Pimlico Futility.

Breezing Thru Not Eligible for Endurance.

Breezing Thru, son of North Star, from La Motte, is not an endurance eligible, but he would be worthy of serious attention. He looked a possible 3-year-old champion at Pimlico last Monday, galloping one mile, 1:40 2/5, in front of Aztec, Porphyry, Titus, Pro Tem, Mike Hail, Custer, Custer, Chip, Phoenix Coates and Dark Range. The best 3 and 4 year olds don't run any faster than that at Pimlico and it must be borne in mind that Breezing Thru had 115 points above. He had won a 1-mile race in 1:24 1/2 and, though the odds were against him, he was able to hold his own. He will be a good horse to go on for the winner's end of a $15,000 purse—perhaps as much as $12,000—at Bowie November 30 in the Eclipse Renewal, a dash of 1 1/16 miles like the Walden and the Pimlico Futility.

Buckeye Poet, a son of Black Toney and May Bird, she the mother of Blue Warbler, is stepping up fast, too. After winning over Frumper at Laurel, he came over to Pimlico to run in the Eclipse, taking the redoubt- able Spinach. This son of North Star III, which sired Bubbling Over, Boot to Boot, Blossom Time, Blue Warbler, Buddy, Bauer, Old Man, Northland, Busy American and a score of other stars before him, seems to be just coming into his own.

Derby Cup Captured By Sir Joshua, Gelding

Derby, England, Nov. 15 (A.P.)—Sir Joshua, aged gelding, owned by Mrs. F. B. Sneyd, won the Derby Cup today by a short head from the Aga Khan's Silver Hussar. Bonny Boy II, owned by M. E. St. Alary, of France, in third place, was only another short head behind.

The winner, by Gainsborough, out of Jessica, started at 7 to 1 against; second at 100 to 8 and third at 15 to 2. The distance was 1 1/4 miles and fourteen ran.

This was nearly the last meeting of the flat racing season, only one handicaps remains, the Manchester November Handicap, which will wind up the season on November 23.

Favorites Triumph

Finally at Latonia

Latonia, Ky., Nov. 15 (A.P.)—As a diversion from the usual parade of the long shots through the fields at Latonia, the public choices clicked with a little more than the usual frequency in today's card of seven races.

The long shot was the victory of Chet L. Sloope's Princess Donna in the final race. The win was worth $21,100 for a $2 investment.

Gibson's choice went over in the feature race at eight to one, but in feature race at eight to one, but in the Gold Step, the oddsmakers favored on the second, the main allowance race of the day. Dave Davis was not the best thing in the sixth, but he went over and paid $5.70 to win.

Thus, Chet L. Sloope, F. Haines, divided riding horses, each booting home two winners. Haines was up on Flashing Gem in the third, while Gibson rode Gold Step in the second and Dave Davis in the sixth. In addition, Meyer put across two seconds.

Devitt Prep Eleven Ties G. U. Freshmen

After four periods of hard football, during which both sides several times lacked a scoring punch

after having penetrated the 15-yard line, Devitt Prep and Georgetown

Freshmen finished their game 0 to 0 yesterday at the Hilltop before 500 spectators. The Prep boys performed a six-man relay, which the two couldn't excel their foes when it came to crossing the goal line.

The Freshmen, with Dee carrying the brunt of the attack, rolled up three or four first down plays, but the Devitts headed for a touchdown, but the Devitts then stood their ground and countered with a better attack of its own.

In the waning minutes the Hilltoppers drove the Preps back to the 6-yard line, but the quick work failed to capitalize on this when Devitt punted out of danger.

Keefe featured for Devitt with a couple of long runs from scrimmage.

Tangora, Abramson and Knott also looked good for Devitt. Sullivan and O'Connor were defensive bulwarks for the Freshmen.

OPENING a varied passing offense in the second period and continuing this assortment throughout the remainder of the game, the Gonzaga gridmen comparatively routed the St. John's Elephants, 33-7, in their annual clash on the new Gonzaga Field at Benning. The Johnnies contributed a big surprise in the first period when they pushed over a touchdown and held the Purple scoreless. St. John's lead was short lived, however.

The first half of the contest was much as promised—a close battle. The Gonzaga aerial machine started functioning with marked precision soon after the start of the second half and four touchdowns followed in rapid fashion. Passes were worked successfully to add four extra points.

Landon's "Iron Men" Upset Woodward, 7-0

Special to The Washington Post.

Landan's "Iron-Man" eleven upset the dopes yesterday when they defeated the Woodward prep eleven, 7-0, on the Monument Hill. Conceded the first three rounds of the game to virtue of comparative scores of the teams against Episcopal High Landan scored on a lateral pass which Bill Quinn took over the goal line after a 25-yard run in the third quarter. The extra point was allowed when Woodward was off side. The game was won by a 2 to 0 margin in the only home game of the season in which Landan has used no substitutes, the eleven starting men playing the entire game.

The Landan team threatened the Woodward goal three times before it actually scored. The Woodward team threatened but once when a long pass was returned from behind the Landan goal line.

The Landan man kicked out of danger on the first play, however. All of the Landan players performed equally well and it would be an injustice to the rest to name any outstanding man.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

NOVEMBER 16.
"SCORPIO."

If November 16 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 6 a.m. to 8 a.m., from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m., and from 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. The danger periods are from 11 a.m. to noon, and from 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m.

The best advice to be given on this date is "stick to your guns." Make no changes! Avoid litigation! Do not be led away by chaotic schemes! Make the most of the opportunities which lie at your own doorstep!

The child born on this November 16 will be abrupt in speech, magnetic in temperament, intuitive in judgment and demonstrative in love. It will possess considerable originality and will be apt to do something unusual.

Although not aggressive, you can stand up and hit back when necessary. You are a determined person. You have a very hopeful nature, and you refuse to look upon the dark side of things or to be borne down and depressed by disappointments and defeats. You are not afraid to wander from the beaten path, and are able to stand above them. You do not need to learn to walk with your own thoughts. You are loyal to your friends, anxious to help those in distress, sympathetic and sensitive. You are a strong lover, and suffer deeply if you have not returned to you with equal strength.

Successful people born November 16: James McHenry, Secretary of War under Washington and Adams.

Daniel Read, composer.

Charles Eliot Norton, educator.

Timothy Dwight 2d, scholar and educationalist.

Henry Gillman, scientist and consul.
